How do you pass an array of objects containing a collection of references to another object to another object in Ruby? I have the following objects: class SomeObject end class AnotherObject attr_reader :objects def initialize @objects = [] end end class MyClass def some_method @a = SomeObject.new @b = AnotherObject.new @b.objects = @a end end I'm trying to put some objects in @b.objects and have them be AnotherObjects, but When I do this @a.object_id shows up in @b.objects but when I do @b.objects[0].object_id it returns nil. What am I missing? My goal is to have this functionality: user = MyClass.new user.objects SomeObject
