FUNDAMENTAL SCOPE: Recognised by UNESCO, the World Heritage convention, and OIPA, an extensive experience in the development and integration of cultural heritage studies into our teaching and research methodologies, combines with a specific multi-disciplinarity, particularly for Lusophone Europe, in carrying out the study of cartography and cartographic culture. By training professionals, teachers and researchers in that field, they act as promoters of the Portuguese language and its culture in the world. In addition to its institutional position at the School of Cartography and Geodesy (Espaço Superior do Aire e do Mar - ESMAM), the School of Cartography, History and Computation (ESMAC), belonging to the Faculty of Mathematics, Physics and Natural Sciences (FMNP) of the Universidade do Algarve, also has considerable experience, especially in the period from the 1970s to the 1990s, with the formulation and implementation of research projects at the National Research Council (CNPq) and the Fundação para a Ciência e a Tecnologia (FCT). We are especially recognised for our research in the study of cartography and cartographic culture, particularly in Lusophone Europe, in the face of the international phenomenon of sedentarisation. We work with the Department of Modern Languages (Anglo Sax
